DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(c), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(c) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 3/5/2009 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Krowech et al. Krowech et al teaches a lance device (36) including a frame, guide and pneumatic reciprocating drive means, in the embodiments of figures 2-4 for example, which can be operated in the manner recited in the instant claims, thereby showing all aspects of the above claims.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Woodings et al. Woodings et al teaches a lance device (the drill shaft) including a frame, guide and reciprocating pneumatic drive means, in the embodiments of figures 2 and 3 for example, which can be operated in the manner recited in the instant claims, thereby showing all aspects of the above claims since the drill meets the general description of a lance.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed on 3/5/2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's argument movement in a pulsating manner is not desired by either of Woodings et al or Krowech is not persuasive because as stated previously, since the references can perform the function, the actual use to which the references are intended to be put cannot be relied upon to fairly further distinguish the instant apparatus claims. see MPEP 2114. Applicant's further argument that movement in a "pulsating" manner is not possible with either of Woodings et al and Krowech is also not persuasive since the term "pulsating" without any recitation of the periodicity of the pulsating movement could be fairly met by any back and forth movement by the references with any period, even as slow as one back and forth movement per week, for example. Applicant's further arguments regarding the distance of the pulsating movement (a series of small steps) is also not persuasive at least because again, this limitation is not expressly present in the claims and in any event, without a statement as to how "small" the "small steps" are, any movement would meet this limitation.
